

We are here for you

Cancer is a journey. At the time of diagnosis, through the course of treatment and even after treatment is done, individuals diagnosed with cancer and their caregivers have a wide range of needs. The American Cancer Society understands these needs and offers information, support, and resource referrals to cancer patients, survivors, and caregivers during their cancer experience. Following are some of the resources provided for cancer patients by the American Cancer Society in many communities. Contact us to see which services are available in your area.

Information

- Cancer information specialists and oncology nurses available anytime at 1-800-ACS-2345
- Interactive website at www.cancer.org, providing in-depth information on cancer and more
- Critical resources on coping with cancer, what to ask your doctor, what to expect during chemotherapy and radiation, and dealing with the side effects of treatment

Day to Day Help

- Access to community resources to help with financial needs, support groups, hospice care, and more
- Transportation assistance to help cancer patients get to and from their treatment appointments
- Hope Lodge,[®] providing free lodging assistance for cancer patients and caregivers who must travel away from home for treatment
- t/c,[™] a magazine and catalog of products for women facing cancer
- Camps and college scholarships for children who have faced cancer

Emotional Support

- Cancer Survivors Network,SM an online community that connects survivors, caregivers and all those touched by cancer (www.cancer.org)
- Look Good...Feel Better,[®] workshops that teach women techniques that can help them cope with appearance-related side effects from treatment and restore their self-esteem
- I Can Cope,[®] educational classes to learn ways to navigate the cancer experience while building their knowledge, coping skills, and positive attitude
- Reach to Recovery,[®] linking breast cancer survivors with patients to provide one-on-one support and information to help them cope with breast cancer.
- Man to Man,[®] a support and education program for men facing prostate cancer